- Scissors
- Pins
- Textile marker
- Tape measure

Cutting

- Hydrangea pattern: front section 120 x 60 cm and 80 x 60 cm
- Flower pattern: Back section 2x each 40 x 200 cm

Cut all parts, leaving 1 cm seam allowance.

2 cm hem allowance on 1 edge of each back section.

1. Fold one long edge of the back section 1 cm wide on the left side and press. Fold in another 1 cm wide and press. Then stitch the hem. Stich the hem on the back side of the second cut section in the same manner. Press the seams after stitching.

2. Lay the two back sides overlapping left to right, so that both strips overlap by 20 cm. This results in a total width of 62 cm. Pin the strips together and stitch them with the sewing machine or by hand.

3. Lay the two cut pieces right to right on the front section along the 62 cm long edges. Stitch the seam and press the seam allowances. Now press the stitch lines on the front with the iron or trace with a textile marker.

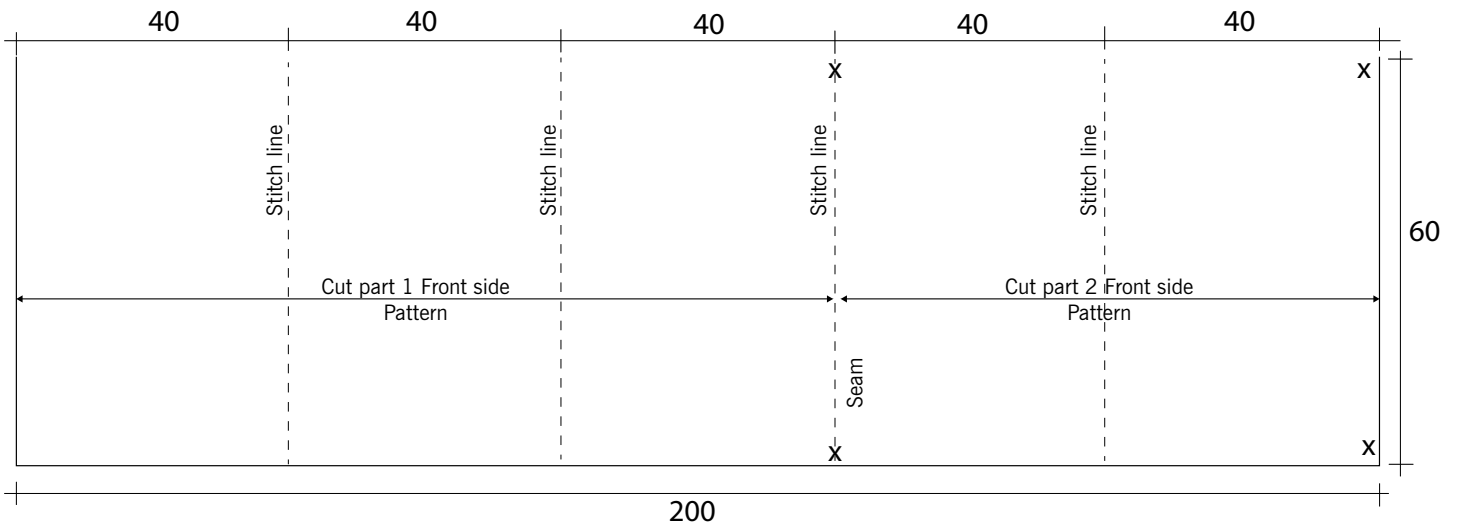

4. Cut the grosgrain ribbon into 4 sections of 30 cm each. Place the prepared back side right to right on the front side, the outer edges flush with each other on top. At the „x“ markings for the binding ribbons, push the grosgrain ribbon between the front and back. Pin in place with needles. Put the outer edges of the floor cushion on top of each other. Stitch the seam around 1 cm wide and trim the seam allowances. Release the stitching on the back and turn the cover out through the opening. Shape and iron the edges. Tack the opening on the backside again

5. Place the front and back sides on top of each other along the markings. Stitch the seams on the marking lines through all layers. Make sure that the overlying pieces of fabric do not move on the reverse side.

6. Slide the pillows through the openings in each section of the pillow bed. The cushion filling is slightly larger than the shell, which fills the shell up. Tie the grosgrain ribbon together at the sides.
